Stewart Said Preparing For Re-Count

Andover's William Stewart, defeated by 174 votes in a first-time bid for a representative's seat in the General Court, was reported Wednesday to be preparing papers to file for a recount. Stewart, who is chairman of the local Board of Selectmen, trailed James P. Hurrell of North Andover in the contest for the third of three 12th District seats. Incumbents Arthur Williams of Andover and William Longworth of Methuen won easy victories in the same competition. (See precinct totals on Page 8.)

Though Stewart could not be reached for comment prior to presstime, it was reported through the Town Clerk's office that he has said he will seek a recount.

In the same race, Longworth polled 5881 in Andover and Williams, 6404.

In all, 8964 of Andover's 10,580 registered voters cast ballots that kept counters busy until well into Wednesday.

Like the Massachusetts majority, Andover gave solid support to Gov. John A. Volpe, Edward W. Brooke for U. S. Senator, Francis W. Sargent for lieutenant governor and Elliot L. Richardson for attorney general.

And in the Congressional race, incumbent Bradford Morse polled a winning 7686 votes.

Also supported with strength were the key ballot questions prolonging the life of the sales tax, providing for joint election of the governor and lieutenant governor, authorizing government subsidization of industrial development activities and clearing the way for gubernatorial reorganization of the executive branch of the state government.

Fin Com Approves Bancroft Property

The Finance Committee has approved the Selectmen's second-time choice of a Bancroft Road site for construction of a Southeast elementary school.

Chairman Robert M. Henderson said Wednesday that his committee has given clearance for consideration of the site proposal at a special Town Meeting Nov. 21 and will make a formal statement

Henderson was not prepared to comment on what position he expects the Watchdogs will take on the special warrant Monday, R. Wayne Long and others have prepared one article calling for construction of a major sewer line to Rocky Hill Road and the Town-Cottage Farm site first considered for the school along with another proposing purchase of the farm land which is now part of the estate of the late Robert White. This latter article specifies that the site be used for a school location. (See warrant on Page 4).

The best informed guesses are, however, that the Finance Committee will not clear the Long articles, thus preventing their being brought to the floor at town meeting. Town bylaws provide that capital expenditure proposals cannot be considered at special TM's without approval of this advisory

The Andover League of Women Voters will hold an open meeting on Nov. 16 at the Andover High School at 8 p.m., to discuss the location of the new Southeast Elementary School.

Abbot Head Has Resigned

The trustees of Abbot Academy at their annual meeting on Nov. 3 formally accepted the resignation of Mary Hinckley Crane as principal of the Academy.

Philip K. Allen, president of the board, announced the decision was made with regret and appreciation of the years of service given to the school by Mrs. Crane but also with an understanding of the sincerity of her wishes as expressed in a letter addressed

Retired Colonel On Vets Day Program

Col. Marco J. Pettoruto, of Andover U. S. Army Ret., will be the keynote speaker at ceremonies Friday in observance of Veterans Day.

The combined veterans' organizations of Andover have planned the memorial service which will be held at 11 a.m. at Spring Grove Cemetery. Those participating are to meet at American Legion headquarters on Park Street at 10:30 a.m.

Col. Pettoruto, a native of Lawrence, is a practicing attorney in Lawrence. He had a career in the service which spanned some 20 years and terminated with his retirement in 1963.

He enlisted in the Army in April, 1942 and was selected later that same year for training at officers candidate school. Commissioned a 2nd lieutenant in 1942, Col. Pettoruto advanced in rank to the permanent grade of colonel by 1961.

During his more than twenty years with the Army he served in many capacities including base judge advocate, Wheelus Air Base, Libya; chief, new trial division, Office of the Judge Advocate General, Headquarters USAF, Washington, D.C.; director of Civil

Are Food Prices Too High?

Why have food prices gone up? We might ask: Why have the prices of most things gone up?

The answer is that we are in an inflationary spiral. Most things are up - merchandise is up, wages are up, all government spending is up. Meanwhile the supply of basic foods (surpluses) is sharply down.

The retail price of any product is the cost of the goods plus handling costs plus taxes and profit.

At the CO-OP, we buy smartly and operate efficiently to keep handling costs low. We have no gimmicks.

But because we are consumer-owned, we have no profits in the usual sense. Our net earnings are returned to our shoppers as a cash refund on purchases.

CO-OP prices, after refund, cover only the cost of food, economical handling and taxes.

Inflation is everybody's problem. We don't know how to eliminate the CAUSES of inflation. But we do know how to mitigate the EFFECTS of inflation. Our net prices, after refund, are the lowest you will find.

That is why more and more local consumers are discovering that the Andover Consumers Cooperative exists to protect their consumer interests.

WE GIVE S & H GREEN STAMPS

With its first annual meeting of the way, Punchard-Andover Alumni Assn. will start to work next month on plans for a spring dance to raise funds that will ultimately be invested to do something for the school."

Irving J. Whitcomb '27, who was re-elected president of the newly organized alumni organization last week, reports he intends to move into a program of committee activities that will draw increasing numbers of AHS graduates into membership.

PAAA was organized a year ago by reactivating the old Punchard High Alumni Assn. and pooling its members with graduates of the newer high school.

The association held its first annual meeting Saturday at Sheraton-Rolling Green Motor Inn. Some 200 alumni and friends attended the dinner dance.

In addition to re-electing Whitcomb president, the organization named these other officers: Dorothy E. Towne, vice president; Sarkis Sarkisian, vice president; Barbara D. Rooks, secretary; Martha Thomson, treasurer; Barbara A. Cannon, statistical secretary; and Monica C. Walsh, assistant statistical secretary.

Elected directors were William A. Doherty, Albert J. Cole Jr., David L. Nicoll, Arthur Heffez, Glenda Horton and George Heschline.

Presenting the slate was the following nominating committee: J. Everett Collins, chairman; Agnes V. Dugan, Sally A. Hudgins, Mable E. Marshall, James D. Doherty and Douglas N. Howe. A bouquet was presented during the evening to Miss C. Madeline Hewes of the class of 1896, the oldest represented. Flowers were also given Betty C. Oakes from the class of 1959, the most recent represented.

Two dozen white carnations were sent to Miss Bessie Goldsmith, a member of the class of 1899 and the daughter of the second principal at Punchard Free School. The presentation was made by Philip F. Wormwood, AHS principal, and the first local graduate to hold that position.

During the business session, Winthrop R. Newman read from his original manuscript on the history of Benjamin Hanover Punchard whose bequest to the town financed the first public school in Andover.

A blue and gold Association banner, donated by officers and directors, was draped on the head table and gold table covers and blue accessories were used to repeat the school colors theme, throughout the dining room.

Mrs. Frank W. Reynolds II of 11 Robandy Rd. represented the Andover Smith Club at the annual council on the campus at the Northampton College Nov. 1.

Boys 12 and under must sign up Saturday at 1 p.m. at the Youth Center if they are interested in playing with the Junior Basketball League.

Director Frank Monette announced this week that boys eight through 12 (who will not reach the age of 13 before Nov. 26 of this year) are eligible for league play.

Activities for the season will include: a weekly clinic; 15 season games; two All-Star games; monthly shooting contests with prizes; and recognition of first and second place teams at an awards ceremony.

The championship team will play at Boston Garden in March before the World Champion Boston Celtics.

Boys who are unable to register Saturday, but would like to play in the league should contact Frank Monette.

AFS Foreign Film Series Opens With "Black Tights"

Tickets are now available for "Black Tights" and two other films that are to be part of the American Field Service Foreign film program this season.

The first film is billed as a gigantic package of music, dance costumes, lavish sets and photography in technicolor. Roland Petit, as choreographer, has adapted four stories for ballet: "The Diamond Crusher", "Cyrano", "A Merry Mourning" and "Carmen."

"Black Tights" will be shown Nov. 19 at 8 p.m. at Andover High School.

Two other films, "The Reluctant Saint" (Italian) and "Yojimbo" (Japanese) will be shown in March. Tickets for all three may be purchased at the door.

Ticket sales from the film series helps support student exchange programs of the Andover AFS chapter. AFS brings new foreign students to this community each year and sends Andover students abroad.

The chapter is now looking for families interested in having a foreign student live with them next year. Anyone interested in information should contact Dr. or Mrs. John Webster.

Building in Andover for use as a data processing center, Northeast will occupy the new building sometime this month after a basic IBM 360 model 30 computer has been installed.

The TOWNSMAN reported early in October that such an announcement was anticipated, though company officials would not comment on the report at that time.

In making his announcement Mueller said, "Northeast's new data processing center will involve the most modern data processing equipment available today."

Initially Northeast will use the new facility for data processing including inventory control, revenue accounting, sales statistics, payroll distribution, and flight planning.

As Northeast's new $132 million fleet of 35 jet aircraft is delivered over the next two years, the line plans to expand the business systems facility in Andover, Mueller said several types of computer equipment are under consideration for the program, but no order has been placed yet.

According to Richard J. Hawes, Northeast's director of data processing, the line initially plans to employ 40 people in the new facility.

"We hope to hire many of these people from the Andover area, but the need for skilled personnel is so acute and the supply so small we are looking for qualified people anywhere we can get them," he said.

Northeast will double its Andover employment to 80 by the fall of 1968 as the expanded business systems program is completed.

TEAM ONE NOW TOPS

First place in the Andover Newcomer's Bowling League is held by Team Number One.

Rolling with Team One are Mrs. Jack Walsh, Mrs. Leo Beltracchi, Mrs. Dennis Root and Mrs. George Bell.

A new high game of 196 was set by Mrs. Donnelly and the high doubles is held by Mrs. Albert Berry.

Green Beret Killed In Vietnam

Capt. Gerald F. Currier, a veteran of eight months service and two tours of duty in Southeast Asia, has become Andover's first victim of the Vietnam War.

The 29-year-old Green Beret officer was killed Nov. 4 while commanding a company in front line action. His death terminated a 12 year Army career during which he completed the equivalent of four years of college education.

Limited information about his death was available in the Defense Department telegram received here over the weekend. It stated simply that he had died during a combat operation with a hostile force.

Captain Currier was born in Lawrence on May 28, 1937, the son of James H. Currier and the late Mrs. Mary J. (Dolan) Currier. More recently his home has been at 15 Memorial Cir.

The officer began his Army service as an enlisted buck private, training first at Fort Dix, N. J. He had further training at an Army Finance School in Indiana after which he was assigned for tours in Texas and Japan.

In 1959 the captain was schooled at the University of Washington in Seattle for assignment in the field of Army Intelligence. From here he went to Germany for two years service.

Following his return to the United States in 1962, Capt. Currier entered Officer Training School at Fort Benning, Ga. where he was commissioned a second lieutenant. His next assignment was as a heavy artillery officer at Fort Hood, Texas.

In 1963 he attended an Army language school in California and left from there to train allied troops in military tactics on the island of Formosa.

The special forces officer was in Vietnam for Christmas, 1965, where he served until given a leave last August.

He had been home just ten days when ordered back to Vietnam.

Capt. Currier attended St. Patrick's Parochial School in Lawrence and graduated from St. John's Preparatory School in Danvers. He was a member of St. Patrick's Parish, Lawrence, and had served for several years as an altar boy.

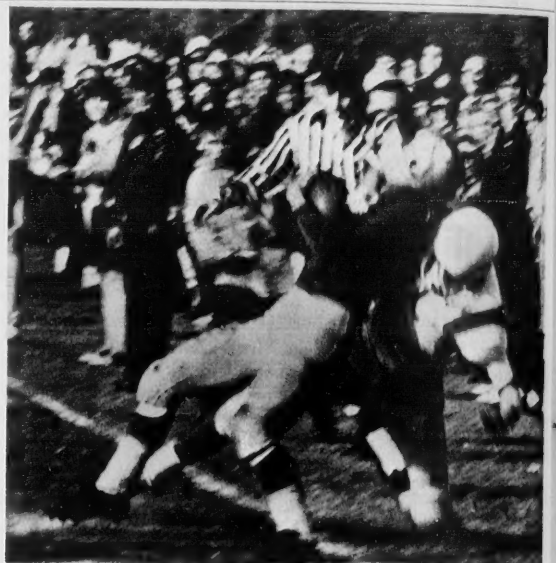

He is survived by his father, John H. Currier; his wife, Janet Hulse Currier; a six-year-old daughter, Mary Ellen; his step-mother, Mrs. James H. Currier of Lawrence; his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank J.

CAPT. GERALD F. CURRIER

Currier of Lawrence; his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Joseph Dolan Lawrence; and several aunts, uncles, cousins, nieces and nephews.

Final arrangements for the funeral, from the John J. Hart Jr. Funeral Home, 107 S. Broadway, Lawrence, and a Mass at St. Patrick's Church are being delayed pending arrival of the body. Burial will be in Spring Grove Cemetery, Andover.

KEN CHLEBOWSKI catches a pass that led to a tussle that led to a touchdown in Saturday's game between Andover and Burlington. AHS took the game, 14-6. It was the fourth straight win for the Golden Warriors, giving them a toe-hold on the conference lead.

Troubled Thoughts

It came at last this week.

The dreaded, chilling news that one of Andover's men in Vietnam has died in a war, the logic of which is still being debated.

It is not unfamiliar news. Wives and children and mothers and fathers and friends and communities have been adjusting to such losses with great regularity since the beginning of recorded time. But whenever it comes, such news is harsh. And each time, each war, the first loss is somehow the bitterest because until it comes there is always the hope that just this once the reality of war will never be brought so close to home.

It is difficult to be objective about "man's inhumanity to man" when one's emotions are involved. But it is the best time to struggle for understanding of the human entanglements that stand in the way of peace, for it is then that we care most. Once the war is over and the wounds are healed, the ordinary person reverts to thinking of conflict in terms of heroes and pride and parades. Memories of what it was really like blurr, along with the photographs of the generation of callow warriors sacrificed for the ideal of freedom.

All we have to hope for each time is that the intensity of caring strengthens the will of an increasing number of people to inform themselves about the problems of the peoples of the world, their dreams and their ambitions. For herein lies the clue to peace. . . Certainly we have proved and proved and proved that war is an unreliable shortcut.

It is thoughts about the answer to it all that should trouble us as we mourn the loss of Capt. Gerald F. Currier and the hundreds of thousands like him who are to be honored on Friday, November 11, Veterans Day.

End In Sight

The Selectmen, filling in more specific data around the general information previously in their hands, have voted to recommend the same site for construction of a Southeast elementary school that they recommended to voters in October.

The School Committee and the Planning Board have concurred with their judgment, and there is no reason to expect that the Finance Committee will do otherwise. The Watchdogs approved the request for authorization to buy what has been dubbed "The Bancroft Site" prior to its consideration at the last Special Town Meeting.

The public has had one opportunity to hear everything there is to be said on the subject of sites (at a joint meeting of the Selectmen, Schoolmen and Planners Wednesday), and will have a second chance at another open meeting November 16.

In addition, the town will distribute through the mail a detailed analysis of the site decided upon and information about what makes it superior to the two other sites suggested.

A great many man hours have gone into the preparation and study of the proposal that is to be made. Now, if voters are interested in preserving the effectiveness of Town Meeting, they will do their homework and ask their questions in advance. It will be inexcusable if on November 21 there are again townspeople who stand to ask naively "Have you ever thought about. . . ?"

There is little that has not been thought of, little that has not been discussed publicly and little of import that has not been printed on the school site debate over the last SEVERAL months.

If, in two weeks, we have heard the end of it . . . there will be true cause for Thanksgiving!

As Others See It

(Editor's Note: We intended some editorial comment of our own on the subject of how disgusting Halloween has become . . . mentioning for example, such things as the fact that the smallest of children now sneer if they are given an apple instead of a chocolate bar . . . but this excerpt from the Devil's Pulpit column in the Berkshire Courier sums it up nicely. Not all the complaints he mentions are major complaints in Andover, but general conditions are the same.)

There Was A Day when trick-or-treating was for younger kids, and was generally confined to the neighborhood in which they lived. The fun came in trying to outwit the householder, who was supposed to identify the face behind the mask. The treats were there, of course, but they were subordinate to the main idea of the visit. And it was a VISIT, too - sometimes a band of youngsters would giggle in the front hallway for 10 or 15 minutes while various members of the household tried to guess who they were.

"Now, however, there's no hope of guessing who is behind the mask. It may well be some kid from Sheffield or New Marlborough or the other end of town, impatient to grab his share of the goodies and get back to Mama, who is sitting outside revving the motor of the station wagon impatiently. Hordes of 75 or more children in a single night, all with outstretched shopping bags clutched in greedy, grumpy paws, may pour into a house at hours ranging up to 11 o'clock or later. And woe betide the homeowner who isn't prepared for such an onslaught and runs out of treats early in the evening.

"This Problem of older youngsters cashing in on the trick-or-treat bandwagon gets worse every year. We know of one chap who says he refuses treats if the kid has started to shave or his voice has changed - and he's only half in jest.

"Even greater than the problem of elderly elves, however, is the problem of sheer numbers - and this is one that can be laid right at the front door of the parents who consent to drive their offspring far outside the neighborhoods that they can rightly claim as trick-or-treat territory. Not only are they destroying the grand old institution of trick-or-treat in its true sense, but they are also serving to perpetuate a notion that seems to have crept into the mind of most of the current "gimme" generation - the idea that anything they want is theirs for the demanding.

"Thanks to their parents, they don't even bother to ask any more."

Andover took time out from one of the busiest periods in its history this week to give a proper celebration to a particularly memorable Armistice Day. The current prosperity in the mills and shops, as well as the significance of the anniversary of the close of the last war falling on what may be the eve of our entrance into the next one, were two factors ingiving local celebration and spontaneity and enthusiasm the like of which Andover has not seen for years.

After 13 years of service, Walter E. Curtis of Dascomb Rd. resigned last week, his position as trustee of the Spring Grove Cemetery.

When Andover and Exeter clash this Saturday at 2 on Exeter's Plimpton Field, the Royal Blue's supporters will see an undefeated Andover team go into action at full strength.

A Livable Environment

Effects Of Noise On Man Scrutinized By Scientists

A man goes to work and stands by a machine in a factory all day. In the evening he drives home in bumper-to-bumper traffic and runs his power mower over his lawn while his wife in the house operates the dishwasher and the washing machine.

After a few hours of television, he goes to bed with an air conditioner humming in his ear all night. Without thinking about it, he spends the complete 24-hour cycle in a constant din of machine-made noise.

As in the natural environment, man in the modern technological environment lives in an all-encompassing web. The ecology is seen in the external effects that man's inventions have on man himself. For while man makes life easier for man, he also does things to him as well. In this case, he does something to his ears.

As little is known about the long-range effects of air pollution on man, we know even less about the effects of constant noise on him. But scientists are beginning to recognize noise as a contributing factor to the stress and strain of modern, particularly urban, life. In short, noise is annoying and thus raises the level of irritability. It thus contributes to human fatigue and in the long run may be involved in illness such as ulcers and hypertension.

An important contribution to the layman's knowledge of the noise factor has been made by reporter Ivan Robinson in a five-part series in the Hartford Times. Robinson settled from the state and national election this week, the opening gun in the 1957 town manager campaign was fired by the Taxpayers Assn.

Miss Mary Jane Hodges, formerly with "Esquire", has joined "Sports Illustrated" as an art researcher. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hodges.

Some 80 acres of land in Andover will be developed by Merrimack College in its expansion program. The property is known as Flying Feather Farm.

Elsewhere

Foresighted garden-lovers will preview the yuletide season Dec. 1, took sound readings at noon on a weekday in front of the Connecticut State House and found the level to be over 80 decibels.

A decibel is the usual unit used for measuring sound. Man can actually begin to feel physical pressure on his ears at 130 decibels and pain at 140. Fifty percent of all machines in American factories produce levels of between 90 and 100 decibels. About one million American workers have a serious hearing defect caused by work noise.

Man has learned to adjust to unpleasant noise by simply "turning it off." Some small children in the pre-school poverty program - Operation Headstart - have been thought to have a hearing defect until it was discovered that they simply closed their minds to constant blaring noise and shouting in the crowded conditions in which they live. When the teacher raised her voice to reach the entire class, some of the children simply "turned her off."

Because of high-noise conditions in some factories and the problems that jet planes cause in communities near airports, much research is being undertaken by public agencies and private consultants to learn more about man's tolerance to the effects of noise.

One thing is certain. The technological environment is much noisier than the natural one. While complete silence would be foreign to our ears, a quieter, more peaceful environment would be a more livable one.

The site acquisition plan was not presented to the PB for evaluation 30 days in advance of the scheduled meeting which means that the planners must waive their right to see and report on the proposal before it is to be put up for voter action. Its purpose is to prevent purchases of land for municipal purposes without the Planning Board being given an opportunity to register an opinion.

board. A further hindrance to one Long article could, but is not expected to come from the Planning Board. The site acquisition plan was not presented to the PB for evaluation 30 days in advance of the scheduled meeting which means that the planners must waive their right to see and report on the proposal before it is to be put up for voter action. This new bylaw regulation created problems for the Selectmen at the last town meeting. Its purpose is to prevent purchases of land for municipal purposes without the Planning Board's being given an opportunity to register an opinion.

The Selectmen decided to recommend reconsideration of the Bancroft site, defeated at an October town meeting, after a joint fact-sharing session with the School Committee and Planning Board on Wednesday.

At this open meeting the town manager submitted data collected from various town departments comparing the Bancroft, Orchard & Main and Town-White sites on the basis of accessibility, soil conditions, availability of sewage facilities, relationship to school population site development etc. (The most significant figures from this charted comparison appear elsewhere on this page.) Though the Selectmen abandoned further consideration of the White property after it was known that soil conditions would make construction of an $800,000 sewer line necessary, date was discussed for this location as well because the Long articles were anticipated.

The Planning Board has already submitted its written report on the Bancroft site, and approved its selection. The Board also said the Orchard site meets its standards for location, area etc. The letter from Chairman Harold King was turned over to the Selectmen the day after the conference session.

The School Committee, which approved the Bancroft site prior to the October meeting, has also expressed its satisfaction.

One of the statistics collected for this meeting proved a surprise to school officials and some others who had previously considered the White site as the most advantageously located. Figures on walking vs bussing to the three locations show that transportation costs to all three would be about equal. (See chart)

At a brief meeting Monday, the Selectmen positioned the articles for the Warrant and discussed the descriptive information and data being prepared for mail distribution to voters.

At first glance, there seems little connection between the physical act of "strangling" and the mental process of "worrying." However, the word "worry" is derived from the old German word wurgen meaning "to choke."

Somehow, by extension, the term came to be used to denote "mental strangulation" . . . and, then, to describe the condition of being harassed with anxiety or care.

ruled this week that there is nothing in the regulations it voted with to prevent continued operation of a piggery at 120 North St.The right of Richard Morin to keep some 30 pigs in a residential zone was brought before the board when a complaint was filed with Building Inspector Arthur P.
man. A number of neighbors appeared at the September hearing to object, primarily to odors coming from the piggery.The decision says facts indicate that there has been a piggery on the former dairy farm since 1958, prior to adoption of town zoning bylaws. The non-conforming use is permissible so long as it continues uninterrupted.The board stressed in its written decision that it has authority only on the question of zoning. It noted that if the piggery is regarded as a public nuisance, relief must be sought through the Board of Health.
The farm met B of H standards when checked in July.Also released this week was a negative decision on the request of Walter Cieplik of Melrose for variance to permit division of a lot on Brown Street and Bellevue Road, leaving one lot with insufficient frontage.The board ruled that in its opinion, the petitioner failed to show that denial of the variance would impose a substantial burden. This was the third such petition that has been made regarding

An important message to Raytheon's neighbors

Continuation of work in our Massachusetts plants and laboratories is of vital importance not only to our company and our employees but also to you and your communities.

We feel that it is important at this time, therefore, to inform you of the status of negotiations between Raytheon Company and Local 1505 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. The I.B.E.W. represents approximately 10,000 of the more than 22,000 Raytheon employees in 12 Massachusetts plants and laboratories.

The company and the I.B.E.W. negotiating committee have been in contract negotiations over a period of some three months. During that time, the company has conscientiously sought to devise a formula of wage and fringe improvements which would be both generous and equitable.

On Friday, November 4, the company's two-year contract offer was turned down by the union negotiating committee. The company's offer, described at the right for your information, is the most generous ever made in the history of Raytheon, and exceeds the terms of many recently-announced labor agreements elsewhere in industry.

Negotiations were moved on Monday, November 7, from Boston to Washington, D.C., at the request of the Federal Mediation Service and negotiations are continuing with a temporary extension of the old two-year contract.

The company's offer includes hourly wage increases totaling 30 cents, 24 cents and 20 cents in three different pay groups over the two years of the proposed contract. The wage increase and improved benefits package is 6.04 per cent higher in the first year and an additional 5.49 per cent higher in the second year.

We have communicated the terms of this offer to each of our Raytheon men and women who is a member of the I.B.E.W. We have also informed all of our other employees in Massachusetts because of their vital concern in the status of negotiations.

Raytheon has, during the past two years, developed a pattern of growth and a forward momentum which, if maintained, will be beneficial not only to Raytheon employees and stockholders, but also to the economic growth and stability of each of the communities in which we operate.

We have pointed out to our employees that the contract offer we have made is the best that we can make — without seriously endangering our momentum, competitive position, and ability to win new orders on which future employment must be based.

We ask your understanding as valued neighbors; and we ask that you join with us in the hope that we can reach a peaceful and equitable settlement on the basis of the offer made — an offer which we feel is fair to our employees, which will permit the continued growth and progress of the company, and which will continue to support the prosperity of your communities.

Andover-Exeter Meet In 87th Annual Tilt

Or is it the 86th? Phillips-Andover dates the oldest school-boy football game in the U. S. from 1877 and Phillips-Exeter apparently counts from 1878. In any event, whether for the 86th or the 87th time, the two nationally famous prep schools will meet on the gridiron field Saturday.

The game is scheduled for 2 p.m. on the Phillips Andover playing field.

In the lineup will be three local boys: Mark Haley, a senior; Jose Ristuccia, an upper; and Bill Williamson, a senior.

And what are Andover's chances for a win? The PA boys have not racked up a win in this traditional game in the last four years, but they are going into the 1966 competition backed by a 4 win - 2 loss season. Exeter has 5 wins and 2 losses to its current credit.

The usual colorful pre-game rally will be held Friday evening when the football team will assemble on the steps of Samuel Phillips Hall to await the arrival of the student body, parading with torches and banners across the campus.

The famous rivalry began, in the words of one game historian,

"as sports competitions should, as a matter between boys, 'A challenge' was issued from Andover, and the Exeter students accepted."

The game has been omitted only three times in the history of the rivalry. These lapses occurred in the early years of the series "when various enthusiastic outbreaks of partisan spirit caused athletic relations to be discontinued for brief periods."

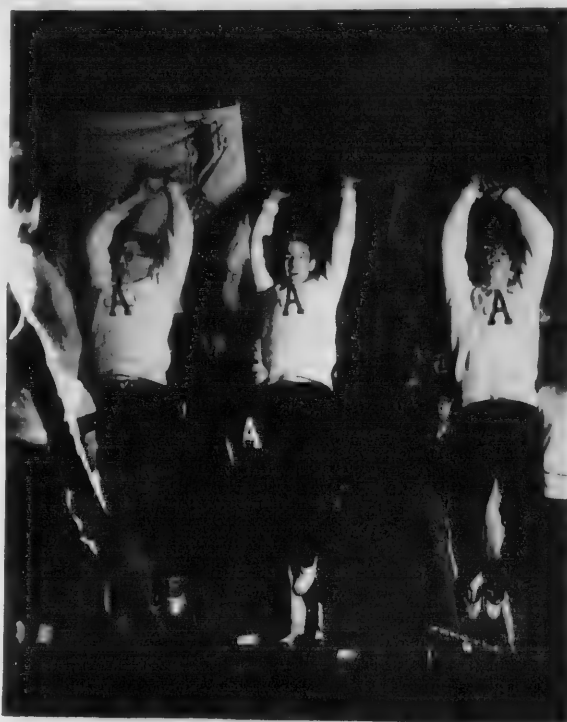

At one point, according to one record, the heads of the two schools met on neutral grounds - in a Haverhill railroad station - to discuss resuming the series. There have been no interruptions in the sequence since 1896.

A number of future All-American have performed in the Exeter-Andover series. The record score over the years was rolled up in 1914 when the Exeter team took the game 78-7 on Andover's Brothers Field.

Directing play for the Andover team Saturday will be Coach Stephen S. Sorota.

BUSINESS PROFILES*Coronet Features Contemporary And Mediterranean Furniture

Your home should reflect the personality of each individual that lives there: the homemaker, the head of the house, and your children. Coronet Furniture, located on Route 28 in North Reading, specializes in a personal home decorating service that can make your house the home that you want it to be. Mr. Al Fichera, owner of Coronet Furniture, is the decorator. He will go to your home and advise you on your choice of furnishings, custom made drapes and carpeting, all color-coordinated.

Coronet is the first in this area to originate home planning of this kind, to the extent that you can actually see the furniture in your home before you make any decision.

Mr. Fichera feels that each family has its individual tastes, hobbies and personalities, and therefore each home should be styled individually. This concept has kept Coronet Furniture the leader in this field. Mr. Fichera and Mr. Louis Spinelli cooperate with their clients at all times.

Coronet Furniture has been at the same location for the past 13 years with the same personnel and has never had a sales promotion or gimmick of any kind. Their satisfied customers are their best advertisement and they have the same low price category for everyone, yet Mr. Fichera has made it a practice to be always two or three years ahead of current furniture trends. For example, seven years ago, they were the first to offer the swag chain light. Coronet Furniture features only Contemporary and Mediterranean furnishings in the finest name brands as well as custom lines without duplication. Whether you are decorating a new home, re-decorating an older home or restyling a room, you will find that Contemporary pieces are easy to live with, graceful and uncluttered, while Mediterranean offers a regal look and a majestic feeling.

Mr. Fichera invites you to call or visit Coronet Furniture any time, conveniently located on Route 28 in North Reading, just one mile over the Andover line. There is plenty of parking space and they are open Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings until nine.

NEA Official Urges Three Way Unity

An official from the National Education Assn. told an audience of public school policymakers, administrators and teachers here Tuesday that what they should be working toward is a new, cooperative relationship that will improve the quality of public education.

The child, said Charles F. Deubel, president of the classroom teachers division of the NEA, is of number one importance. He called for a unity that would set school boards, administrators and staffs to formulating collective approaches to providing the best public school education possible.

In an interview prior to his appearance at an Andover Education Assn. banquet at the high school, Deubel said the day is past when our schools are staffed by ninth grade graduates with normal school certificates. This kind of teacher needed to lean on administrators, the NEA official said.

Teachers today are different. They are better educated, more sophisticated and equipped to have a voice in deciding what will be better education, Deubel explains.

Pointing out that superintendents have frequently stood as a barrier between teaching staffs and policymakers, he said teachers are regarded as militant today because they are refusing to keep silent. Through their associations they are saying: "We're the experts, we're the teachers, we're closest to the child and we know what is good for him."

Militancy Explained

Admitting that the NEA and its member associations are deeply interested in teacher welfare (salaries and working conditions), Deubel stressed that the powerful lobby devotes its major efforts to plumping for better education. The most militant organizations exist he said, where taxpayers provide too little money for a first rate school program or where there is official indifference to teacher recommendations for improved programs and facilities.

Appearing on the program with Deubel were William Hebert, executive secretary for the Massachusetts Teachers Assn. and Atty. William A. Waldron, special counsel to the MTA.

Hebert urged teachers to involve themselves in political action, openly supporting the candidates and causes of their choice outside the classroom. He said associations should not hesitate to endorse good candidates on either side of the partisan fence, even though it is regarded as a "risky business" for teachers to "make waves."

"The MTA can have an effective impact on the course of history (in this state) . . . through careful selection of endorsements," he said.

Supt. of Schools Edward I. Erickson greeted members of the association, the chairman and three members of the Andover School Committee and visitors from other teachers associations in the area who attended the AEA's Professional Night.

On the committee for the dinner meeting were: Barbara Emmons, South School; Marjorie Jones, Central School; Mary Bartow, Sanborn School; Katherine Danahy, Shawshen School; Hazel Cox, West School; Frank Collano, Junior high; Ralph Duncan, Junior high; Richard Neal, Junior high; John Curtin, High school; Joan Lynch, High school and Joseph Shea, High school.

Assisting were Robert Deacon, Barbara Gerry, James Hartmann and Paulette MacMillan.

Mrs. Helen Enman was general chairman and toastmistress.

Segregated Suburbs ACEO Panel Topic

A group of negroes including residents of Andover, Greater Lawrence and Boston, will discuss the many factors - economic, social, political, and emotional - which contribute to the fact that Andover remains a 99% white, segregated suburb.

Under sponsorship of Andover Citizens for Equal Opportunity, the topic "Why Not a Negro Next Door?" will be thoroughly aired on Thursday, Nov. 17 at 8 p.m. in the Underwood Room, Phillips Academy (across from Andover Inn on Chapel Ave.). The public is invited.

The panelists will include John Thomas, a probation officer of the Roxbury Municipal Court and America's Olympic high-jumper; Paul Harris, who is a production superintendent for Essex Industries and a six-year resident of Dracut; Mrs. John Lambert, an Andover native who has lived in Methuen for the past 10 years and who manages a family, including four children as well as a full-time job at Western Electric; Mrs. Richard Finnegan, another Andover Native who returned here to live five years ago and has just received her degree in education from Lowell State; and Mrs. Theotis Humphrey, of North Andover since 1963 and formerly of Roxbury, founder and director of the Volunteer Education Center in that community.

The panel discussion will be followed by a question period and an informal coffee and conversation hour.

FOR THE MAN who has never been satisfied with his shirts

Since we know that dress shirts seem to be one of man's few remaining prerogatives in a woman's world, we take special pride in extending our commitment to cleanliness to your shirts. We know full well that your shirt is your daily badge of arrival in the business world and that it should be a perfect badge gleaming in its whiteness or subdued in its hue, comfortably wrinkle-free, complete with all its buttons and as soft or as well starched as you want it.

Realizing that shirts are almost always needed "by today or tomorrow at the latest", we quick-service your laundering whenever you want it - again at no extra cost.

We wash each shirt with the proficiency many years of professional experience can summon. Pure gentle suds and pure water of just the right temperature all combine to provide a most exacting washing.

After drying until they have that fresh-as-air clean, clean smell, your shirts are gently placed lengthwise in baskets and trundled off to a battery of women - trained specialists who smooth the way to shirt splendor. There are four separate pressings. First, the sleeves are form-pressed for wrinkle-free smoothness right to the cuff. Next, the cuffs are pressed around to fit the wrist. Then, the collar is pressed round and sloping to conform with natural neck shape, using the exclusive "shirt with the sleeping collar". Finally, the body of the shirt is shaped. The shirts are automatically folded with a snap-up, tuck-in, fold-under action that does away with annoying wrinkles. Then they are neatly slipped into individual plastic bags to keep them spanking fresh until you receive them in your convenient shirt package.
